

LONE MANGA!

PRESENTS

Chapter 117

Translator - Dogs

Proofreader - Marajule

Editor - Hyakki

Abide in the Wind

Copyright © Shueisha

Doton

100

「おはようございます」

「おはようございます」

「おはようございます」

Who's this?

Abide in the Wind

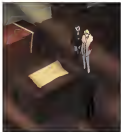

Episode 7 • Dorton

Story • Art

Shin Weol

How is an outsider here?

I'm sorry, we'll question him immediately—

The only ones who can make a contract with dark elemental dragon artifacts are the Akumori.

The Akumori do not interfere with the wishes of human beings unless it's requested of them.

It was you,
you're the one who made the request of that Akumori.

Yes, I can accept what happened in Lutering if it was a contractor of that degree.

Stop talking nonsense.
Drag him out.

No need.
I'll see myself
out.

I was just curious about who sawed me and for what purpose...

Someone who meets the opposition to the king's slave law to continue.

Someone who can commit an Akoom
of that caliber

I know now
That's enough for me

Oh...

...

Let us speak in private.

click

Because they have no concept of evil,
they have no reason
to 'reject' requests.

And because of basic human greed, materialism and
convenience,

I concluded that this justified
the slavery of the Akoom race.

The first one to discover that was your ancestor,
I believe.

You're the descendant of Adventurer III,
Raban This.

You've been active
under the name of R;
because of your recent activities regarding the slave law, you are currently wanted and are to be executed.

Now, let's stop talking about this nonsense.

What made you come all the way over here to visit me?

I know why you're trying to keep me
alive now.

I can't provide any positive press
about you, however.

I can continue to criticize the king publicly.

How you use that will be up to you.

Are you're you're satisfied with that.

So? What do you want?

That Akoom.

Oh my. You're going around like this?

How shallow.

My command

was to prevent her from entering unauthorized areas

and protect her from life-threatening agents.

Alcorn should not have any contact with humans.

He should not remain here.

I can't grant that.

That Akoom
came from the Great Plains and he swore his obedience of his own volition.

From the Great Plains?
You visited the End of the World?

I promised the abolition of the slave law in the kingdom

If you wish for him to return, I believe that it's in your best interests to cooperate.

That's the better method.

100

If that's true, then allow me to meet that Akorn once more

Somewhere alone and not here.

Prince Kethan's
objective is probably to overthrow the king.

In order to destabilize the king's position, he promised the Aksum that he would abolish slavery.

He chose me as one of his lieutenants, but whether he will be a decent king is not a question.

he's too extreme
and too violent

If someone like him becomes the king, the slavery laws will disappear in name only;
the treatment of Akoom will remain the same.

Wait in this room.

There aren't many Akoom left anymore, but still—

From the look of it, she's already been tossed aside, hasn't she?

Ghoble
Ghoble
Ghoble

You're right,
we shouldn't even have bothered.

What was that?

Healthy without reason.

I need ... to recollect my thoughts...

MISS, ARE YOU ALRIGHT?!

ASSISTANT Kim Yun Bong (K)

cafe <http://cafe.daum.net/abideinthewind> blog <http://blog.naver.com/abidein>